Why Jewelry For Mother's Day?

May 4th, 2017 | Stephanie Dore

Why do we give mom jewelry on Mother's Day? Why not give her jewelry on Mother's Day? Thank her for all that sleep she gave up for you, along with the plethora of other sacrifices she made. Mom deserves a little something and jewelry has a way of making people feel extra special. Give her something that says, "Well done, mom! I turned out awesome and it's all because of you."

Jewelry is the perfect gift because it's something she can enjoy forever and can be personalized in countless ways. Give her a bit of unexpected bling this year, and she might just declare her favorite kid.

Here are some of our favorite Mother's Day gifts to inspire your own celebration:

Initials

Whether it's her initial or one for each kiddo, our brand new initial pendants feature a dainty, sparkling diamond detail for an extra special touch.

Birthstones

It's a long held tradition for mom to wear the birthstones of her brood, and a great way to add a little color to her every day look.

Locket

This timeless style lets her keep memories close to her heart. Fill it with tiny pictures of sweet faces, or a special note of appreciation.

Engraving

This is where your creativity comes in. Pick a piece of engravable jewelry and make it personal. We're big fans adding a nicknames and special dates.

Diamonds

It's her time to shine. Enough said.
